Introducing the Best Protection for Man's Best Friend:

NK-9™

AHCC® -- IMMUNE SYSTEM SUPPORT

Only from American BioSciences ... The AHCC Pioneers in Human and Canine Health

Blauvelt, NY

March, 2006

American BioSciences, Inc. has once again made good on their motto: "Nature and Science for Better Health." Their devotion extends beyond humans to include the health and well being of pets in their latest product! NK-9, AHCC-Immune System Support, provides solid support for immune system health, as evidenced by published scientific research. Its key ingredient is the nutritional all-star mushroom hybrid compound known as AHCC, the subject of numerous studies that prove it to be both safe and efficacious in helping support canine immune system health. NK-9 is truly a gift of health to dogs ...and their guardians.

According to the University of Pennsylvania, School of Veterinary Medicine's Department of Clinical Studies, the development of the canine immune system shares many similarities to that of the human. In both dogs and humans, the immune system, including the mucosal immune system, is fully developed before birth although the maturity of the immune response may continue into the postnatal period. NK-9 helps your pet achieve optimal health due to the efficacy of its active ingredient, AHCC, or Active Hexose Correlated Compound. It's been proven in dozens of human and canine research studies that AHCC has the ability to help canines maintain optimum NK-Cell function, support cytokine production, and promote optimal T-Cell and Macrophage activity. It dramatically enhances the dog's immune defenses, and helps keep them healthy and active. The most recent of these studies entitled "Augmentation of canine cellular response by administration of AHCC," led by T. Takahashi at Nihon University's College of Bioresources Science shows the effect of AHCC on Natural Killer cell function.

The "NK" in NK-9 stands for "Natural Killer" and it refers specifically to a type of white blood cell that is the immune systems first line of defense in both humans and canines! These cells play the role of the "sentinel" which stands in the forefront of the immune systems, guarding the fortress of our health. NK cells have an innate ability to identify and often kill microscopic invaders or abnormal cells that can cause harm. Upon the first hint of an attack, the NK cells herald the troops to get to work and fight. This has been shown to be the best protection not only for man, as found in ImmPower-AHCC, but also now for man's best friend in NK-9.

AMERICAN BIOSCIENCES: PIONEERS IN HUMAN AND CANINE HEALTH

The first to introduce ImmPower™ AHCC into the U.S.: Nearly 7 years ago, American BioSciences was the very first company to introduce the American people to ImmPower™, the first product in the United States to contain pure AHCC®, one of Japan's best selling supplements. Since that time, ImmPower's popularity has been steadily and rapidly increasing in U.S. stores because it has been proven (in more than 32 published studies) to work quickly, providing unique health benefits, supporting peak Natural Killer (NK) cell function, & empowering the immune system's front-line defenses.

The company that brought Dog Gone Pain™ (DGP™) to America: Ever since DGP's introduction into this country over two years ago, sales have more than tripled. Why? Just ask any of the hundreds of pet owners who have written to American BioSciences with their gratitude. DGP has been helping dogs of all ages and breeds to feel – and act – like puppies again, helping to restore mobility and ease of motion. One of the reasons for the rapid rise in DGP's popularity is simply this: it works. DGP addresses many of the health needs of older dogs, and dogs with breed-specific or injury-related mobility problems. Developed by Australian scientists & herbalists, DGP's formula includes a proprietary blend of natural compounds that are used in traditional medicine to support nervous system, gastrointestinal, skeletal, and immune health. DGP works much faster & more completely than other natural products – most dogs show dramatic improvement in mobility & demeanor in a week or less.

SETTING THE INDUSTRY STANDARD

American BioSciences was founded in 1999 by natural health industry innovators David Wales & Rick Jahnke, both of whom felt very strongly about the need for a company that focused first & foremost on the health needs of consumers and their pets. The company's goal was – and still is – to identify natural compounds which are supported by outstanding, significant medical research, and then bring them to the US marketplace with educational information that helps doctors and consumers – as well as veterinarians and pet owners – put their condition-specific products into context with regard to all their health options.

With the introduction of NK-9 as their latest offering, American BioSciences is once again leading the way to the path of success in creating safe, effective natural supplements for canine health. NK-9 is produced under the strictest pharmaceutical guidelines, assuring the potency of each capsule. The dosage of NK-9 is dependent upon the dog's weight: for dogs up to 60 lbs. give one capsule in the morning and one at night for one week and then one capsule per day ongoing; for dogs larger than 60 lbs. give two capsule in the morning and two at night for one week and then two capsule per day ongoing.

These products have helped American BioSciences establish itself as one of today's leading companies in immune system health for man and man's best friend. American BioSciences, a member of the American Pet Products Manufacturers Association, is proud to supply unsurpassed product information, store training, free samples, literature, and a customer satisfaction guarantee.
